Our History

McRoyal Industries was founded in 1956, by John N. Lallo and has provided interior case goods since 1956. It all began In 1964 when Leroy and Forrest Raffle began planning a new concept in fast-food restaurants. We worked with the Raffle brothers creating the stores interior, which today is known as Arby's Restaurant. The first Arby's opened its doors to the world in Boardman, Ohio and we still ship to virtually every Arby's in the country. McRoyal quickly gained a reputation for quality and our services expanded into nearly every commercial end market.

We serve many of the biggest brands in the country and work along side dozens of contractors, architects and construction firms nationwide to deliver turn-key solutions both large and small.

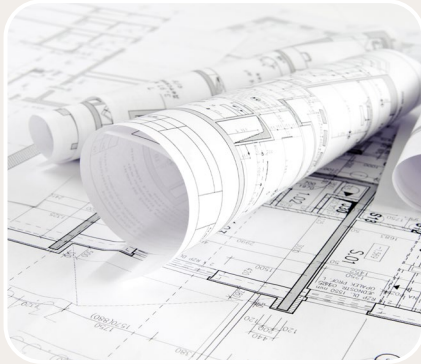

We are proud to have 3rd generation members of the Lallo family as part of our exceptional leadership team. As we approach our 70th anniversary, we can proudly say our reputation for quality, value and innovation has never changed.
